SOFTENING US UP FOR THE CHINESE INVASION!

by Martin Wingfield

THE MEDIA ONSLAUGHT HAS BEGUN! The British people are in for a summer of Government-sponsored softening up to prepare the way for public acceptance of the invasion of our country by Chinese immigrants.

The United Kingdom, already over-populated by 10 million people according to Population Concern, the monitoring unit of the world's population, is being pressurised to accept a further 3.25 million immigrants.

The Tories, Labour, SLD and their supporters in the media are united that Britain should 'honour a moral obligation to the people of Hong Kong'.

The National Front believes Britain should honour moral obligation to the British people and stop our country becoming the ethnic dustbin of the world.

Let's look at the facts:

- * Millions of British men, women and children died in two world wars this century to stop the invasion of our islands by non-British people.
- * Less than ten years after the last war non-British people were being encouraged by the Conservative Government of the day to come and settle in our country. The British people were never asked whether they wanted to share their country with these West Indians, Africans, Indians and Pakistanis; there was no referendum; no election where a political party said 'vote for us and we will allow this influx of non-Britons into the country'. It was done without the consent of the British people.

- * The flood of immigrants since the 1960s has continued unabated, Kenyan Asians, Bangladeshis, Vietnamese Boat People, Turks, Kurds and Sri Lankans.

* The arrival of these coloured immigrants has caused the destruction of the British way of life in towns and cities throughout the country.

* The Government has had to introduce a Race Relations Act to prohibit British people from voicing their dislike of these immigrants. The Public Order act has had to be changed to stop British people from holding anti-immigration rallies and marches.

Even nominated candidates in elections, who warned voters of the dangers of coloured immigration, have been sent to prison.

* Christianity is under attack as the immigrants try to force their religion on the British people.

* We have Race Riots, violent Asian demonstrations on British streets over issues that are nothing to do with the British people, and no-go areas in Britain where our police cannot control the immigrant community.

* Our schools in London now have a majority of coloured immigrants in the classrooms, and our employers are now forced to employ immigrants over the heads of better qualified Britons.

This destruction of British culture, traditions and way of life has happened because the politicians decided to share our country with non-British people. British values which our people died protecting in two World Wars have been sacrificed and the only voice of protest heard was that of the National Front.

The 3.25 million Chinese immigrants from Hong Kong are not the poor refugees that the media likes to paint them as. Just like the Vietnamese Boat people they are the dregs of the Chinese nation who know that their drug, crime and finance rackets will not be tolerated in 1997 when the Chinese Government takes over in Hong Kong, hence they want to come to Britain.

At the end of May a telephone phone-in programme resulted in 79% of callers saying 'NO' to allowing the Chinese immigrants into Britain. But that was before the media's softening up programme had begun.

National Front members and supporters must make sure that the British people don't wilt under Government and media pressure. We must write to MPs, write to newspapers, phone-in on radio programmes, talk to our neighbours and get our voice heard. For our message is what the beleaguered British people want to hear: Britain for the British - Stop Immigration Start Repatriation!

WHAT THATCHER SAYS:

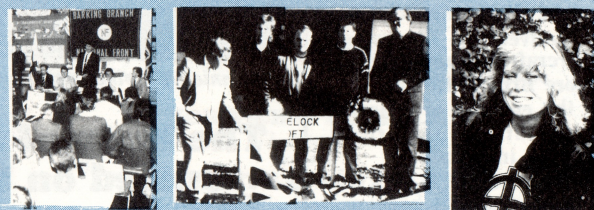

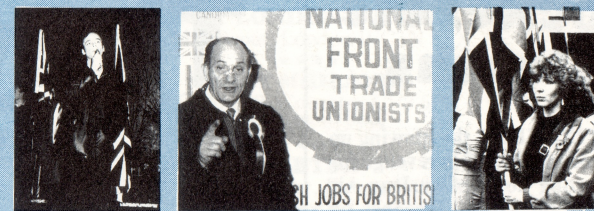

"Our first and greatest concern has to be for the people of Hong Kong. Our commitment to a secure future for them is as strong as ever."

"We are prepared to see if we can get increasing flexibility from the present rules in order to allow an increasing number of people here under the several limbs of the immigration rules and British Nationality Act."

- Margaret Thatcher banging the drum for Chinese immigration.

BRITONS PAY FOR KURD INFLUX

THE BRITISH taxpayer is to foot the bill run up by Kurds who have come to Britain from Turkey in search of a better life.

1,800 Kurds are already in Britain, being housed and fed by local councils. Hundreds more are arriving at Heathrow and Manchester airports, many with false passports, claiming refugee status.

Home Secretary, Douglas Hurd, said that the British people must pay for food and accommodation for the Turkish immigrants and has set up a special department to deal with the influx.

The National Front says "Save the taxpayers' money - Put the Kurds on the next plane back to Turkey!"

British Minority in London

ETHNIC MINORITY children now make up most of the 250,000 pupils in inner London schools, according to statistics published by the Inner London Education Authority.

While British children make up 50% of the 100,000 pupils that attend secondary schools, only 48% of the 150,000 pupils that attend the authority's 750 primary schools were from the indigenous population.

PREDICTION

The figures are further proof to confirm the National Front's prediction that the British will be a minority in their own country by the year 2068.

Foreign Feud Led To Lockerbie Deaths

IRAN ORDERED the blowing up of Pan Am flight 103 in revenge for the shooting down of an Iran Air Airbus by the USS Vincennes on July 3rd 1988.

The order, which was accompanied by a reward of £412,000, was issued during a cabinet meeting of Ayatollah Khomeini's inner circle just days after the Airbus disaster.

So, British people in Lockerbie lost their lives because of a dispute between two foreign countries that was nothing to do with the British people.

HOW LONG

Little, apart from increasing security, could have been done to prevent the Lockerbie disaster which involved an American civilian aircraft. But how long will it be before British lives are lost because the enemies of America decide to attack American military bases in Britain.

WITHDRAWAL

The National Front believes that American bases in Britain, by their very presence, draws Britain into America's disputes. The interests of Britain and the British people can best be served by the withdrawal of all American military arms and personnel from our shores.

SALMAN RUSHDIE: Promoting the National Front!

SALMAN RUSHDIE, THE BEST recruiting agent the National Front has had since Idi Amin continued his excellent work last month as Asians rioting against 'The Satanic Verses', drove Britons in their hundreds to contact the National Front wanting to become members.

Phone calls and letters, mainly from Lancashire and West Yorkshire have been swamping the NF Head Office daily during June as the true face of Britain's multi-racial nightmare reveals itself to the indigenous population.

The riot in Parliament Square at the end of May set the ball rolling while the rampage through Bradford two weeks later, with the horrific scenes of a Policeman being continually kicked by Asian demonstrators, undid years of brainwashing by the anti-British Race Relations lobby.

July will see further Asian demonstrations in Blackburn and again in Bradford all of them adding grist to the National Front mill.

Not since the Ugandan Asians has the NF had such an opportunity to recruit new members and supporters. Every Asian march that ends in a riot awakens the racial awareness of the British people. It underlines the differences between us and them.

While the establishment makes excuse after excuse for the mayhem and Tory and Labour politicians search for scapegoats, only the National Front will be standing firm telling the British people the truth about what is taking place in their country.

Awakening Racial Awareness

• A British policeman lies on a Bradford street being kicked by Asian thugs.

Parliament Backs This Barbaric Slaughter

TEN YEARS of lobbying by animal welfare groups has yet again come to nothing, as Parliament continued to ignore calls for a ban on ritual slaughter.

The barbaric practice of killing animals for Jewish and Muslim consumption by slitting their throats without pre-stunning is to be allowed to continue it was announced in Parliament earlier this month by Donald Thompson, Parliamentary Secretary at the Ministry of Agriculture.

The National Front would ban all inhumane slaughter, and encourage those races, to whom the barbaric practice is part of their culture, to return to their own countries at the earliest opportunity.

Blacks Bid For C.R.E.

BLACKS WITHIN the Commission for Racial Equality are making a bid to take over Britain's Race Relations watchdog.

RACISM!

West Indian commissioner, Lincoln Crawford, is challenging incumbent Michael Day for the Chairmanship and has launched a blistering attack on 'racism' within the Commission.

Day, reluctant to lose his £32,000 a year post has written to Crawford asking him to resign.

Thought for the Month

They Should Have Been HANGED!

• Winnie: A mother grieving a lost son.

• Keith Bennett

The body of a young lad still lies buried on Saddleworth Moor

TWENTY FIVE years ago this month Keith Bennett was murdered.

Just four days after his 12th birthday, on a Friday evening he said good-bye to his mother and went to see his granny just a few doors away from his home in Fallowfield, Manchester. He was never seen again.

His body today lies buried in cold, black peat somewhere on the Saddleworth Moor, for Keith Bennett was murdered that evening 25 years ago by the Moors Murderers, Brady and Hindley.

Brady and Hindley were jailed for life in 1966 after the bodies of ten year-old Lesley Ann Downey of Ancoats and John Kilbride, 12, from Ashton-under-Lyne, were found buried on the moor.

• Saddleworth Moor: Somewhere here lies the body of Keith Bennett.

Another Manchester youngster, Edward Evans was axed to death in a council house the killers shared at Hattersley.

Two years ago Brady and Hindley admitted murdering 16 year-old Pauline Reade of Gorton and Keith Bennett. Pauline's body was found but the murderers couldn't remember where they had buried Keith's body.

For 25 years Keith's mother, Winnie Johnson, has grieved over the loss of her son, remembering his final words to her "See you mam", as she kissed him good-bye. She along with the parents of the other children whose lives were snuffed out by Brady and Hindley have suffered as the media covered story after story of the antics of Hindley and Brady as the question of their reform and release were discussed.

The National Front would never

• Hindley

have allowed those parents that additional suffering. Brady and Hindley would have been hanged more than two decades ago by a National Front Government.

The Harsh Reality of the Political Arena

THE NATIONAL FRONT'S comeback into the electoral arena had no fairytale ending. The harsh reality of actually competing in the real world of Party Politics was brought home to National Front members throughout the country as the British public in Vauxhall, Walsall and Birmingham East were given the chance to vote National Front.

In Vauxhall the result was appalling. The National Front message was completely ignored by the voters. Even the grass root support that had survived throughout the NF's troubled times in the mid-eighties had evaporated. Excuses could be made, - a rushed campaign, a bland election address, interference from a crank candidate also calling himself 'National Front', - but they cannot give any comfort in the cold light of day. The fact remains that in an area where the National Front should be regarded as saviours for the British people, we were totally ignored.

ENQUIRIES

The only glimmer of hope for the future was the dozen enquiries received from Vauxhall and the help given during the campaign by former National Front members who had been inactive since 1986, also a very good election meeting held before polling day raised £310, which together with other donations meant the campaign was completely self-financing.

In Blakenall Ward, in Walsall, the 48(2%) votes polled by NF candidate Bob Noakes, while hardly stunning, was well received by the local branch. It was an area that the NF had not fought since the seventies, so barren of NF supporters that nominees had to be canvassed for. In the end the vote, the publicity gained and the general public interest in the NF from Walsall made it all worthwhile. If the progress continues a National Front candidate in Walsall North at the next General Election looks a distinct possibility.

The Birmingham East Euro constituency saw a major effort by the National Front with the party polling 0.82% of the vote. Let's look at the full result:

Labour	96,588
Conservative	49,640
Green Party	22,589
SDP	5,424
SLD	4,010
National Front	1,471

While the result shows the huge amount of work needed to make the National Front an effective force in British politics, it also shows a firm foundation of National Front support in an area of Birmingham.

The NF got little or no publicity in Birmingham East while all the other parties got plenty of television, radio and newspaper coverage. One daily paper even refused to acknowledge the NF was standing, answering our complaint with the prepared statement that NUJ guidelines forbid it to cover the activities of the National Front! The NF performance when taken against that of the SDP and SLD, both who had television election broadcasts at peak viewing times, shows definite promise.

MEMBERS

In more concrete terms the National Front received 200 membership enquiries. A proportion of which have already been visited and turned into new members and a door to door round selling NF literature has been set up to secure the future support of those who just wished to remain supporters of the Party.

SUPPORT

Reviewing the impact of our efforts on June 15th can best be summed up by a Sun journalist who acknowledged that the National Front still appear to have a bedrock of support and are making efforts to build upon it.

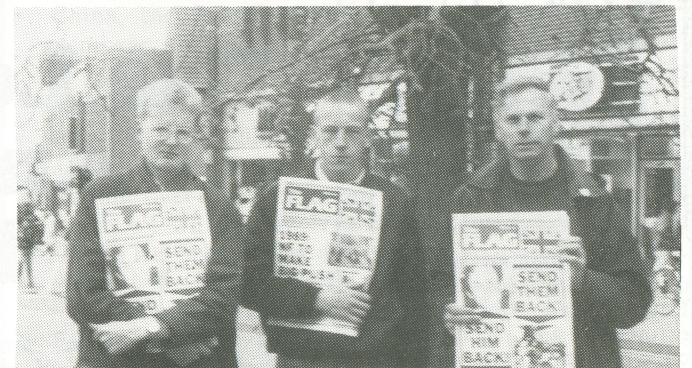

Future election strategy was discussed at a conference in Worthing, by the Executive Council of the National Front on Friday 23rd June. While details of the conference will be fully published in the next few weeks its outcome was a total commitment to future Euro, Parliamentary and local elections, establishing the National Front as a permanent feature in the British political arena.

Many thanks to all those who contributed to the campaigns.

Print-Run Increased!

FOR THE third month running the print-run of The FLAG was increased, firmly establishing the paper as by far the biggest selling nationalist newspaper.

The FLAG is published on a strict order-only basis ensuring that all copies printed have actually been ordered or bought. Continually increasing orders have led to the last three issues being sold-out necessitating the increase in the print run.

Branch Organiser Tom Holmes told 'The FLAG', "We are selling in the town centre three times a month on market days. On the 14th June Branch Secretary Andrew Lightfoot and myself were confronted by 10 art school student-types who were clearly trying to hype themselves up to taking some kind of action against us, having failed miserably in reasoned argument. However they didn't have the courage and contented themselves with abusing anyone who bought a paper".

Tom would like to thank Andrew, Steve, John and Mark for their continued help with paper sales.

IT'S BEEN a busy month for NF speakers. During June Tom Acton has spoken at the Vauxhall Election rally and branch meetings at Slough and Coventry. Joe Pearce has spoken at Great Yarmouth and Exeter. Martin Wingfield has spoken at Walsall and the Birmingham Election rally along with NF Chairman Ian Anderson.

June also saw Lady Jane Birdwood of English Solidarity continue her speaking tour of NF branches addressing Croydon.

FACES IN THE FRONTLINE

• "Britain is a Christian country" shout the National Front counter-demonstrators at the march through London by Moslems complaining about Britain's blasphemy laws.

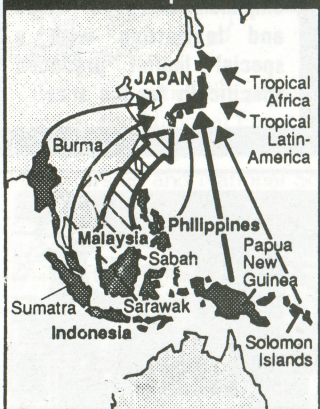

• Two NF ladies show their colours.

ECOLOGICAL DESTRUCTION OF THE TROPICAL FORESTS

THE TROPICAL forest in South-East Asia will be gone in 20 to 30 years because of Japan's insatiable demand for cheap timber.

Japan which controls 29% of the international trade in tropical timber, has exceeded all other nations in its use of tropical woods for 20 years, and currently imports more than the EEC and even more than the United States.

Tropical timber exports to Japan

Japan's logging escapades threaten thousands of South-East Asian species with extinction and according to conservationists, the ecological destruction caused by the £1.2 billion trade exceeds the importance of the continued Japanese hunting of minke whales many thousands of time over.

Japan's rape of the forests of Indonesia and Philippines is all the more horrendous when Japan's own tropical forests, which cover 68% of its land are under-used because of the high price of labour in industrialised Japan compared to the low price of labour in under-developed South-East Asian countries.

Water Meters Clock Up the Bills

A PILOT scheme for water meters in the Isle of Wight has led to family bills being trebled.

Meters were so sensitive they clocked up a charge for a dripping tap and of the 5,000 homes which had received estimates based on one month's consumption the bills were wildly in excess of past water rates.

The Loyalists of Londonderry An Eternal Example of Dauntless Courage

THIS MONTH is the three hundredth anniversary of the Relief of Londonderry. On July 28th, 1689, three provisions ships, led by the Mountjoy, broke the boom blockading Lough Foyle and brought the heroic stand of Londonderry's Loyalists to a victorious conclusion, saving not only British Ulster but Britain herself from foreign domination. The heroic stand of a small band of brave Britons, inspired by thirteen young apprentices who acted when their elders dithered, had saved our land, a worthy example to us today.

The Siege of Londonderry arose out of the Glorious Revolution of 1688, when the British people rose up to expel a dictator whose foreign loyalties and tyrannous behaviour threatened our ancient national freedom.

King James II jailed Britons for criticising his Government's religious policies and sold our national independence to the despot Louis XIV of France. Just as today Thatcher jails Britons like Martin Wingfield and Joe Pearce for criticising her Government's racial policies and sells out our national independence to the Eurocrats of Brussels.

Three hundred years ago, Britons were readier to defend their freedom: they threw James out on his ear in a bloodless coup and brought in William of Orange as a constitutional monarch, subject to the rule of Law and of Parliament, elected by the people.

But James, aided by his master Louis of France, landed in Ireland, and raised the naturally disloyal, rebellious Irish to his side. Loyal British men, women and children were brutally massacred by mobs of Irish rebels across the country.

COWARDLY

On Friday, 7th December 1688, the loyal British people of Londonderry found one such drunken, murderous mob, the "Redshanks" led by one Alexander Macdonnell, at the gates of their city. "Responsible moderate opinion" led by the city's Bishop, Ezekiel Hopkins, and Governor, Robert Lundy, urged "caution", "moderation", "talks", and all the other cowardly whittlings which have been urged on Ulster Loyalists in the face of rebel mobs ever since. But the day was saved, as it was to be again in Ulster's history, by determined action by young Loyalists who acted whilst others talked. As the Irish mob poured forward to within sixty yards of the Ferryquay Gate, the apprentice boys drew their swords and, having seized the keys, slammed the gates in the face of the enemy and locked them.

The city was safe, for the moment. But there was yet James' main army to reckon with. And, as so often in British history, to menace from without was added treason from within. As James advanced on the city in early April, 1689, the Governor, Lt. Col. Lundy, was engaged in secret talks with him to surrender and betray his fellow Britons. In the nick of time all was discovered, and Lundy had to flee the city in disguise, carrying a bundle of faggots, his name ever afterwards Ulster's word for traitor.

Two Loyalists, Rev. George Walker and Major Henry Baker, assumed the joint Governorship, and greeted the French puppet James rolling up before Bishop's Gate on April 18th with a bold defiance expressed in hot lead! And with what after three hundred years is still Ulster's proud watchword: "No Surrender!"

ATROCITIES

James took himself off to safer parts, leaving the city besieged. 7,500 Loyalist combatants, with at least three times that number of sick, women and children, many refugees from rebel terror in the surrounding countryside, faced 25,000 French and Irish troops, commanded by the dreaded Lithuanian mercenary, Lt. General Rosen. Even James described the brutal Rosen as "an animal", and he soon became notorious for atrocities against British women and children who fell into his hands. On July 2nd, 1689, for example, he advanced on the city behind a human wall of 1,200 captured Loyalist women and children, and, failing to breach the wall, herded them at gunpoint to starve in sight of the defenders under the city walls.

GALLANT

For a hundred and five days Londonderry held out, outnumbered, starving and disease-ridden. One of the valiant co-Governors, Henry Baker, hurled the city's last loaf of bread at the besiegers as they yet again called on him to surrender. Then, sick with hunger, he went back to his death-bed. When he gave his life, Colonel John Mitchelburne took his place alongside George Walker leading the defence.

By late July, 15,000 of the city's population of around 30,000 were dead, including half the able-bodied defenders. And a quarter of a dog was on offer for 5 shillings and sixpence, a cat for 4/6, a rat for a shilling, and a mouse for sixpence, the only food left. Still the gallant Loyalists would not yield. And, at last, the Mountjoy broke the boom, relief arrived, and on 1st August the rebels, beaten by those they outnumbered four to one, withdrew. (The days here are in the old pre-1752 calendar used at the time - on the new reckoning all are 11 days later, so Loyalists sing of the gates being closed on "the eighteenth of December", and the modern Apprentice Boys walk the City of Londonderry on August 12th to celebrate the end of the siege).

The gallant defenders of Londonderry tied town James' forces in Ireland long enough for King William to rally the forces of British freedom and despatch an army to Ulster, which was to defeat James for good at the Boyne the following year - in which battle the Siege joint commander, brave George Walker, gave his life.

COURAGE

Had Londonderry fallen, James would have been free to land in England or Scotland and march on London. Thus Londonderry saved all Britain. More than that, the Loyalists of Londonderry, like the Spartans at Thermopylae, gave the world an eternal example of dauntless courage in defence of high principle.

Three hundred years on, we in the National Front, also a gallant but outnumbered band surrounded by the legions of foreign-backed treason, must strive ever to be worthy of their example. And let their battle-cry and Ulster's be ours - NO SURRENDER!

AT LEAST nine nuclear reactors and 48 nuclear warheads have sunk in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, where pressure and corrosion may eventually release their radioactivity.

According to a report due to be published this month by Greenpeace more 1,200 major naval accidents - mostly American or Soviet - have occurred at sea since 1945.

BROMLEY COUNCIL BETRAY OUR WAR DEAD

EVERY year local people gather at the war memorial in Beckenham to pay their respects to those who fought for us in the First World War and in more recent conflicts. Many elderly people plant crosses in the green nearby to commemorate their own loved ones.

But Bromley Council are now intending to desecrate this war memorial by bulldozing virtually all the area surrounding the memorial leaving only the monument itself - until, no doubt, some juggernaut demolishes this.

• Beckenham National Front's leaflet:

FRONT DEFENDS WAR MEMORIAL

BECKENHAM NATIONAL Front have launched a campaign to try to save the Beckenham War memorial.

Every year local people gather at the War memorial in Beckenham to pay their respects to those who fought for Britain in two World Wars. Many elderly people plant crosses in the green nearby to commemorate their own loved ones.

But Bromley Council are now intending to desecrate the memorial by bulldozing virtually all of the area surrounding the memorial leaving only the monument itself. This they say is to ease the passage of heavy vehicles through the town.

Beckenham NF have produced their own local leaflet attacking the council's decision and are urging local residents to write to their MPs and councillors demanding that "this monument be preserved in surroundings that befit the dignity of those who died for us".

The local NF branch are angry that the people of Beckenham were not consulted about their plans and now the council is even refusing to confirm the arrangements of their Annual Remembrance Day service, the NF leaflet asks "... is this to be conducted in the clouds of petrol fumes and with juggernauts hurtling past, or is it to be scrapped altogether?".

FLAG FEN: Bronze Age Find Reveals . . .

ENGINEERING WORKS ON AN ENORMOUS SCALE

• Bronze Age items found at Flag Fen: A sword deliberately broken in two (top), a pair of shears (centre) and a woodworker's gouge.

THE DISCOVERY of a vast Bronze Age religious centre near Peterborough has shown yet again how advanced and civilized our Ancient British ancestors were three thousand years ago.

At Flag Fen, near Peterborough, archaeologists, helped by local metal detector enthusiasts, have found what is thought to be the biggest prehistoric sacrificial site discovered in Europe for over a hundred years.

Four million oak, ash and elder timbers lie preserved in peat alongside skeletons, jewellery and weapons, notably a sword deliberately broken in two and hurled into the sacred lake at the heart of the complex, as Excalibur was in the Arthurian tale.

CAUSEWAY

The site in a lake, consisted of a 900-yard-long causeway built on great oaken pillars and an artificial island with seven timber buildings on it. Up to two million trees were felled in the building of the complex, which seems to have been a temple and must have been one of the most imposing religious centres in the World in its heyday.

A workforce of several thousands toiled for years to build it. Radiocarbon dating reveals that the Flag Fen temples were built about 900 B.C., in the late Bronze Age, and stayed in use for over four centuries, well into the Iron Age.

One of Britain's leading experts on the Bronze Age, John Barrett, Lecturer in Archaeology at Glasgow University, said on June 24th: "The sheer scale of the complex will come as a shock to the archaeological world. These engineering works are on a truly enormous scale. It is now looking as if Britain's prehistoric cultures were substantially more advanced politically and socially than we had previously thought. If this complex had been built of stone, we would be tempted to describe it as evidence of some great civilization."

ACHIEVEMENT

As indeed, experts now agree, it may well have been. Unlike the Greeks, Romans and Egyptians, our ancestors in a more wooded and less rocky land built in wood, which rots away, rather than stone which doesn't. But their achievement in their day was no less for that.

Flag Fen will add to the realisation by archaeologists that our ancestors were not "wood-painted savages" waiting for foreigners to come and "civilize" them. Before Rome boasted a mud hut, when the Greeks were still illiterate barbarians, Britons built a mighty temple to the gods of a civilized people. As they had already been doing for over two thousand years: temples stood on Salisbury Plain before ever a stone of the Pyramids was laid.

We are the heirs of an ancient and civilized people. Let us make sure we hand down to our descendants a heritage worthy of our ancestors. For if we fail and the land is lost, they too toiled and dreamed and built in vain. Our nation's history is too old and glorious a story to end ignominiously in a multiracial cesspit. Let us see that it does not.

Thatcher's Trump Card

AT SOMETIME BETWEEN now and 1997 there will be an invasion of our country by a large number of Chinese people from Hong Kong. The exact number will probably never be known even after the event, but from now until that day when Hong Kong returns to China, the British public will be bombarded with numbers; numbers ranging from 500,000 to 5 million.

To the National Front just one Chinese immigrant joining the millions of Africans, West Indians and assorted Asians already in our country is too many. The numbers game which Mrs Thatcher will be playing over the next seven years is not a game in which we will be involved. Our policy is clear and always has been, under a National Front government there will be no more immigration, just the repatriation of those ethnic minorities living in Britain.

But to Margaret Thatcher and her Government the numbers game over Hong Kong will be her trump card. It's the immigration card, which the Iron Lady has shown us before, she will play when her back is against the wall, as it is now will Labour showing 10 pts ahead in the opinion polls.

As the lines of battle are drawn over Hong Kong, Labour, afraid of alienating the ethnic vote, will take the stance that the vast majority of Hong Kong Chinese must come to Britain. The Democrats have already stated that all must come to Britain. This leaves Thatcher with the high ground, knowing from a recent opinion poll that 76% of the British people don't want any refugees from Hong Kong to come to Britain, she can select from the lower range of numbers, probably around 500,000 and claim that she is taking a hard line on the matter.

But Geoffrey Howe said in Hong Kong recently that British passport holders would not have the right of abode in Britain, I can hear you say. Yes it's good psychology. Britain says now, 'You have no rights of abode' to dampen expectations, then agrees to take 500,000 proving to the Hong Kong Chinese and the rest of the world, that the Government is making an effort to honour its moral obligations.

In Britain it's the other way around. Thatcher has talked incessantly recently about that moral obligation quoting the 3.25 million figure. The British people have that figure firmly implanted in their minds now, so when Mrs Thatcher stands firm and says she will only allow in 500,000, the British people will be convinced that she has taken a hard line.

To future generations of the indigenous population, unless we get a National Front Government elected in Britain, this matter of Chinese immigration will be irrelevant. The British will be a minority in their own country by the year 2068 whether we allow in one Hong Kong Chinese or 5 million. The importance of the Hong Kong issue is for the British people today. It's whether the threat of further large scale immigration will finally bring them to their senses as to what is happening in their country and provoke them to going to the polling booths in their millions and voting National Front.

For the present, Thatcher's immigration card might win her another term of office, but history will remember her as a cheat, a card sharp who conned the British people and presided over the racial destruction of our islands.

A MIRROR IMAGE OF OURSELVES

In the Seventies the press and media launched a campaign to smear the National Front as Nazis and Fascists. Although the smears were outrageous, there was just enough whiff of dictatorship and National Socialism in our policy statement and in the political history of then NF leaders to make those smears stick.

In the Eighties the media tried to associate our Party with terrorism and football hooliganism. The National Front fought back against these smears and proved them totally without foundation.

1989 finds the NF on the verge of a political breakthrough. We have the most radical Nationalist programme ever put forward by the National Front and a Party that has had all the cranks and Nazis removed.

The media will be desperately searching for mud to sling at the National Front and those smears will only be found by attacking individual members of the Party. That is why National Front members must be Whiter than White in all aspects of their lives both political and private.

On the inside of the 1989 Membership Card is the following:-
"As a member of the National Front I accept that I am an ambassador of the National Front and as such pledge to conduct myself in a manner that is a credit to the Party".

From the leaders of our Party to the rank and file we must all abide by what is laid down in our Membership Card. The future of our country depends on us - We mustn't let Britain down!

WORRIED ABOUT NF GROWTH IN BEDFORD

TORY, LABOUR and Democrat politicians have united in an effort to stop the growth of the National Front in Bedford and the Party holding meetings in the town.

The local newspaper, Bedfordshire on Sunday, reports that the politicians believe that the NF is capitalising on the anti-Muslim sentiment generated by the Salman Rushdie affair.

North Beds MP Sir Trevor Skeet told the paper, "The NF is bad news for race relations, which have always been very good in Bedford."

Labour Councillor, Jane George said "I would like to see NF meetings stopped, but in a free society they have a right to their opinions", a view echoed by Democrat councillor Alastair Christie, "NF growth could disrupt the racial harmony of Bedford, but if they hire a hall and do not force their views on people, there is nothing anyone can do about it."

SHEFFIELD NF CONFRONT THE IRA

DESPITE HAVING only 36 hours notice, Sheffield National Front turned out to demonstrate against IRA spokesman Gerry Adams when he addressed Labour Party supporters at the Octagon Centre at Sheffield University on June 18th.

As the twenty-plus strong NF contingent arrived at the hall Labour MP Tony Benn scurried inside followed by a number of adoring fans, while police planted themselves between the NF and those attending the meeting.

The demonstration by Sheffield National Front received local television and newspaper coverage as well as being mentioned in the 'Independent' newspaper.

Despite the IRA's shocking record of atrocities against the British people, once again it was only the National Front that had the courage to mount a counter-demonstration!

• Attenborough: Tory Stalinist

The most hysterical attack came from Tory Councillor Nikki Attenborough, whose attitude was more in line with Stalin's Russia than Thatcher's Britain. "There is no way I am going to sit back and allow the distribution of National Front literature", she said, "The National Front makes me feel sick". Ms. Attenborough then went on to attack the tolerance of a free society that allowed the National Front to function as a political party.

John McAuley, the NF's Home Counties North Regional Organiser told Bedfordshire on Sunday, "People in Bedford have shown quite a bit of interest in the Party, enough for us to plan regular meetings for the town".

College in Panic as NF Posters Appear on Campus

NATIONAL FRONT posters have been appearing on the campus at Stourbridge College and its thrown the college principal and the students union into a state of panic.

Principal David Toeman has written to all students warning them that disciplinary action would be taken against anyone putting up posters which could cause offence to racial minorities or homosexuals.

Students' Union President, Helena Hunt, couldn't believe that students could be putting up NF posters. "We have really good race relations at the college", she told the local paper, "All our Black and Asian students mix with the Whites. I'm so worried that I have taken to personally handing out the principal's letter to students".

In recent months Stourbridge town centre has proved an excellent sales pitch for NF literature with copies of The FLAG, and Vanguard, posters and stickers being sold.

All Honourable Men

THE PLIGHT of the Hong Kong Chinese is at present torturing the anguished consciences of professional bleeding hearts of every political stripe. Just how many Chinese actually live in Hong Kong seems to be a matter of conjecture. Estimates I have heard vary from 3 and a quarter millions to 6 millions who, if the breast beating emoters have their way, would come flooding into Britain when the Communists take over Hong Kong in 1997.

The glorious prospect of still further debasing our racial integrity has, of course, an absolutely irresistible attraction to the various species of trashbag at present infesting the Westminster gasworks. Why, that darling Liberal Paddy Ashdown simply couldn't wait to fly out to the colony and expose his tender conscience to the public gaze; thereby committing the grave offence of indecent exposure. Presumably he had heard that the Hong Kong Chinese had liberal tendencies or some other mental aberration and just couldn't resist being the first to ingratiate himself with 3 and a quarter (or 6) million future voters to boost the sagging fortunes of his perverse ragbag of a party.

If that is his ambition he will have plenty of competition. Labour too has a "let 'em all come" policy of harnessing the immigrant flood to finally flush the British down the drain of history and are busily belabouring Madam Thatcher for being hard hearted in her feeble attempts to stem the flood.

Since Hong Kong was created in order that the cheap labour of the Orient might be exploited by the Tories' beloved entrepreneurs, many Tories too are exceedingly anguished; not only by the threat to Hong Kong's civil liberties but also by the threatened disappearance of juicy non-executive directorships in Hong Kong companies that now employ 3 and a half million people in mainland China making goods for export to Britain.

I do not know if Eldon Griffiths is one such Tory with non-executive aspirations but his pangs of conscience are positively painful to witness.

He has rushed into print to insist that "we must now consider offering British passports to our fellow subjects of the Queen in Hong Kong..." Now I don't know how you feel about being lumped willy nilly with all the black, brown, and yellow millions who, as citizens of the idiotic Commonwealth, are nominal subjects of the Queen, but I object strongly by being so categorised by the likes of Eldon Griffiths. I am a free-born Briton and am not the subject of a Queen for whose benefit the farce of Commonwealth is maintained to our detriment and the rest of the world's derision.

Nevertheless, Eldon goes on to say that we "have an obligation of honour" to our fellow subjects of the Queen. Oh, really? And what, one may reasonably ask, of Eldon's absolute obligation to protect the interests of the poor saps who elected him? Is it that, as with so many of his kind, that obligation expires immediately after the election?

Eldon - oh, I do beg his pardon, Sir Eldon - for this honourable chap has been so honoured by the Queen whose loyal subject he is - bids us to be of good cheer for he has a plan to mitigate some of the ill effects of the catastrophe that he is wishing upon this country. In 1992, he says, all British passport holders lawfully admitted to this country will have the right to move freely into any of the other 11 member countries.

Now there's a true man of honour for you. If you have a problem, simply dump it on your neighbours' doorstep - all in the grand old Tory tradition of "Rip off thy neighbour".

Visibly wilting under the pressure from this monstrous regiment of honourable men, the Government has feebly agreed that all those who are bona fide political refugees will be admitted to Britain. This has naturally resulted in the Hong Kong Chinese denouncing the Chinese communists in full view of the TV cameras, thereby establishing their bona fides long before 1997. Not so much a Chinese take-away as a Chinese take-on.

There is another aspect that Sir Eldon raises when he declares that the "Hong Kong Chinese could provide an immense human asset for Britain" because of the forthcoming fall in the number of young people coming on to the labour market.

Ah, yes. I just knew someone would say that sooner or later. I just didn't know which man of honour it would be.

It was once said that patriotism is the last refuge of scoundrels. Since none of the bleeding hearts could logically lay claim to patriotism, one might say that honour is the last resort of unprincipled curs.

For, as Shakespeare had Mark Anthony say satirically of Brutus and his back-stabbers; "They are all honourable men."

Two Bit Kinnock

SEASONED political observers have confessed themselves bewildered by the recent expletive infested outburst by Labour's brand new Mark 2 Neil Kinnock. Pressed by a radio interviewer to state his own solution to the country's present economic crisis (yes, yet another one, the 498th since the war), he responded with a resentful tirade of childish obscenities as if the man had cast aspersions on the Kinnock honour - such as it is - if any.

This apparent relapse by Kinnock Mark 2 into the ways of Kinnock Mark 1 must have been exceedingly worrying to the image makers of the new style designer socialism. Gone, they must have hoped, was the drivelling Welsh windbag and shallow yobbo boyo who had afforded Madam Thatcher so many hours of innocent pleasure making mincemeat of him in public. Now that the wheels were coming off Boadicea's chariot, and the Iron Lady was being diagnosed as suffering from metal fatigue, he was actually beginning to score points off the beleaguered old battleaxe.

In most respects their programming of Kinnock Mark 2 has been faultless. A former darling of the far Left, he had stabbed all his former colleagues in the back with effortless facility. All the eternal socialist principles he had once espoused with such passionate fervour he now quietly shunted off the agenda. He had become an all-purpose, fully computerised, phoney of the first flight. A true Labour leader.

Unfortunately, the image makers have spent so much effort on marketing the product that they have neglected to ensure that the rather primitive Kinnock Mark 2 which, like Kinnock Mark 1, had only peanut capacity, would be able to handle sophisticated software.

The very latest Japanese computers, for example, have a truly enormous range of responses. If they can't answer your question they will not respond with rude noises and flash up a string of asterisks.

As a megabit, question of a two-bit Kinnock and naturally the poor thing will short circuit and blow a fuse.

Obviously it's too late for the image makers to throw away the Kinnock and market an entirely new model. The only solution to the problem is to send it to Japan or America to be uprated by having some more circuits stuffed up its jumper.

A sort of brain transplant, as it were. It is hard to think of anyone who needs it more.

It's A Dog's Life

THE recent visit by American President George Bush to the NATO summit meeting provided a salutary reminder of just how low Britain now stands in the scale of nations.

It was also the bitterest of disappointments to Madam Thatcher whose increasingly demented posturings as a "leader of the free world" were ruthlessly put down by an American President who, while amiable enough, has clearly no intention of feeding her delusions of grandeur.

It was all so different in good old Ronnie Reagan's time. Why, the lady was welcome to visit the White House any time at all, and she frequently did, to be larded with fulsome compliments by the old ham in the best showbiz tradition. "America's most loyal ally." "Strength and courage." "A true world leader." "Our special relationship." All this puff and a peck on the cheek and the lady swelled so visibly with pride that one feared she would actually burst.

I have often wondered precisely what was this special relationship in which we were supposed to take such pride. It is true that the United States was founded by British settlers but Americans of British descent are now a minority and a rapidly diminishing one. Furthermore, aspiring American politicians no longer consider it wise to boast of British antecedents. So what is this "special relationship"?

For I distinctly recall that it was America that pressured Britain into abandoning the Empire after the war by its strident "anti-colonial" stance. It was America that openly intervened on the side of black "freedom fighters" to force the white man out of our African colonies. It was America that forced our humiliating abandonment of the Palestine mandate by supporting and funding a Jewish take-over. It was America that forced the aborting of the Anglo-French Suez operation and, by the threat of economic warfare against the ailing British economy, forced the resignation of a British Prime Minister. More recently, while Madam Thatcher was publicly declaring her support for America's refusal to negotiate with terrorists, good old Ronnie Reagan was secretly negotiating an "arms for hostages" deal with Iran and omitting to inform his most loyal ally of the fact. And as for our "special arrangement" on the exchange of nuclear information; it now transpires that Americans had a similar secret deal with the French who are most certainly not America's most loyal Allies.

Special relationship? It is that of dog and master. No matter how many kicks and blows the dog receives it still fawns and grovels round the master's feet. Indeed, during the Bush visit, the constant harping by Government and the media on this "special relationship with the USA" was a ghastly embarrassment to all concerned and was reminiscent of nothing so much as dogs gambolling round the master; eager to be smiled upon as the most favoured pet.

All to no avail. The truth of the matter was written on Madam Thatcher's face when she and Bush emerged from the brief Downing Street discussion. She looked as though she had swallowed not one bitter pill but a whole bottleful.

For possibly the most telling comment on the American attitude to Britain was made by an American TV commentator as President Bush made his exceedingly perfunctory inspection of the Guards parading in his honour. As Bush hurried through the massed ranks of Britain's elite regiments, resplendent in full dress uniform, complete with bearskins, the commentator intoned, "The President is now inspecting the Beefeaters".

LETTERS

It's a Private Affair!

I HAVE been following the recent correspondence RE. religion in The FLAG with a sense of both frustration and amusement. My thoughts on the matter are as follows:

a) Religion is an intensely private affair not to be trumpeted around to anyone else.

b) It doesn't matter one iota what religion a person is provided he or she can combine their religious idealism with practical, positive commonsense.

c) Anybody should be free to believe in whatever God or combination thereof that they please - with the one proviso that they are positive not negative.

I have always believed that religion must serve men, not the other way around. That is my religious peccadillo. It is essentially an agnostic, pragmatic approach that I believe is the one that best serves our philosophy.

This is a nominally Christian country, so it makes sense for us to be either Christian or nominally Christian ourselves. We are marginalized enough now, without aligning ourselves with what most British people, rightly or wrongly, see as "crank cults".

No more religious talk then, please - by all means practise whichever one you please, or none if you like that better. Let's talk about interesting and ultimately useful topics.

Holding Out Hope

I write to say that I hold out hope for the future success of the National Front as a political force in Britain.

In 1984 in my Euro-Constituency, Sussex West, the Green party polled 3,842 votes. Five years later they polled 49,588. That is an increase of nearly 1,300%.

If the British public can change so quickly from supporting one political party to another there is no reason why it cannot be done again. Whether or not the public support the National Front at present, its name is firmly on the political agenda to be considered. I feel that Hong Kong, Salman Rushdie and the complete change in the Labour Party will push many people into giving consideration to supporting National Front candidates at future elections.

For the record, I spoilt my ballot paper - writing across it National Front - Get Michael Out!

Smartening up the Front?

The National Front (Coventry) Organiser, Dean O'Brien considers... "it is a disgusting sight to see pints of beer on top of the Union Jack table flag!"

Really? One might put the question: Why is the national flag being used as a 'tablecloth' in the first place? Surely it's proper place should be on the wall behind the said table?

On another matter permit me, please, to point out the correct spelling of 'organiser' - ORGANIZER & 'organisation' - ORGANIZATION.

I am aware that these words are frequently mis-spelt (also in the national press) but the fact remains such spelling is not correct.

Bounced Back with a Vengeance

I wonder how the Scots feel about the Adam Smith Institute's proposal that the 3 to 6 million British passport holders in Hong Kong should be settled on the tiny island of Mulla?

The truth is, of course, that Britain as a whole will have to take in this vast influx of orientals. Just when the Government thought the race issue had been forgotten, it has bounced back with a vengeance!

The Hong Kong issue is in the media every day and the British people are waking up to see this threat to their very survival. We must channel this rising Nationalism, and co-ordinate our biggest drive yet, to regain our birthright. As with the Ugandan Asians in 1976 the people will turn to us again. We must get out on to the streets. Every branch must leaflet, sticker and poster every week. The patriots from the '70s are still there and we must convince them that we are rising again and won't be beaten from without or sabotaged from within.

Students Ban Black Poster!

STUDENTS AT the adult education centre of the Portsmouth Institute in Hampshire have asked for 'Black History Posters' to be removed because they are anti-British.

The posters demand "Things can be changed by fighting!" and that "African history began long before the Europeans came to take away our wealth".

A flabbergasted Race Relations officer couldn't believe that the students were complaining "For the complaint to be coming from an educational institute is frightening - it should be pioneering the struggle for black rights".

For the National Front the students' action is good news. It shows that despite being spoonfed multi-racial claptrap since childhood, our youngsters are growing up to be astute enough to spot anti-British propaganda.

THE PROPERTY MARKET

Would you want to move to a new house and land up in the middle of this?

CRE Wants Estate Agents To Tell Lies

A STORM has broken out in Oldham because a firm of local Estate Agents are guiding prospective White housebuyers away from Asian areas.

The firm has been served with a formal notice under the Race Relations act alleging discrimination. Bhikhu Parekh of the Commission for Racial Equality said that Oldham would be the test case because the practice by Estate Agents was widespread throughout the country.

A disgruntled estate agent said that the action by the CRE was ridiculous. He told The FLAG. "We are under fire at the present time for allegedly being economical with the truth when selling houses. What the hell do we tell buyers who ask us whether a house is in a White or Asian area? If we lie to them, which is what the CRE wants us to do, then we are breaching our own guidelines and face problems with our Federation".

It is natural that British people should want to live in a British community. When buying a house, which involves the biggest expenditure for many in their lifetime, they must be given the full facts with regard to the intended property. The CRE should get on its bike!

MUSIC REVIEW with Bob Nash

Make Way For The Rock Balladeers!

• Europe

THIS YEAR'S singles and album charts have witnessed the increasing success of the rock ballad. Many Heavy Rock Bands which for so long have been out in the cold as far as popular chart single success is concerned are now finding recognition.

It seems that the record-buying public is increasingly turning its back on the repetitious disco and soul chart fodder and is now giving the music of melodic rock and heavy Rock bands a chance to shine.

The success of Fleetwood Mac, who until recently has been one of the few rock bands to be regularly featured in the charts, has been followed this year by such groups as Nightranger, White Lion and most noticeably Jon Jovi and Sweden's Europe.

Bon Jovi led by singer John Bon Jovi and Richie Sambora have to date released four albums, Bon Jovi, Fahrenheit 4800, Slippery When Wet and New Jersey. They are a band who through their sheer professional attitude have always seemed destined for success. The group's most recent singles include Living On A Prayer, (Wanted) Dead Or Alive, Born To Be My Baby and most recently I'll Be There For You.

Europe are a band who have established a name for themselves both in Britain and across the continent. Their excellent album The Final Countdown has been followed up this year by the LP Out Of This World, an album filled to the brim with fine Heavy Rock songs. Propelled along by the precision powerful guitar of Kee Marcello, stand out tracks on the LP are Superstitious, Open Your Heart, Ready Or Not, Never Say Die and Tomorrow.

Like Bon Jovi, Europe have the perfect balance in their music, their singles sound melodic, but live the bands' music power proves as heavy as any of the best Heavy Rock acts.

Other Rock bands waiting in the wings to emulate the success of Europe and Bon Jovi include Kingdom Come, whose latest single is Do You Like It and up and coming group Telsa, who have so far made two very well-received albums Mechanical Resonance and The Great Radio Controversy.

Make way for the Rock Balladeers!

British Youngsters Support More Immigration Controls

A POLL commissioned by the Erickson Advertising Agency under the theme the 'New Generation' has concluded that nine out of ten young people would like tighter immigration controls. The result of the poll brought an angry response from Michael Barnes, director of the Immigrants Advisor Service, who whined "Young people are beginning to believe that immigration is a social problem".

PARENTS REVOLT AT HINDU FESTIVAL

WELL DONE to the British parents in Darlington who took their children away from a school in protest at them taking part in a Hindu festival.

The 400 pupils at Reid Street Primary School were taking part in a Hindu service wearing saris, banging drums and chanting Hindu words when the parents turned up to remove their children. Preparations and practices for the Hindu service had been going on within the school for the previous three weeks.

A spokesman for Durham County Council's Education Department said it was policy to encourage such services, to Ethnic Brainwashing at Old Trafford!

MORE LEADING football clubs are being forced to make political statements endorsing the multi-racial society.

Manchester United are the latest being caught up in Salford Labour Council's newest ethnic vote-winning venture Football in the Community.

Local schoolchildren have been told to draw pictures depicting racial harmony in football, with the owner of the best drawing winning a penalty shoot-out against Manchester Utd goalkeeper Jim Leighton.

The campaign also includes the trotting out of sportsmen and women from the ethnic minorities as 'role models for promoting racial harmony'. Manchester's Community Relations boss, Peter Eldon, summed up the campaign: "This campaign aims to get a message over to children by using another enjoyable medium".

Yes, Councillor Eldon, its called brainwashing!

Johners & Co. Bowled by EEC Directive?

A COMMON Market directive could be behind the planned removal in 1990 of Radio 3's famous ball-by-ball Test Match coverage.

With Britain the only Common Market country playing cricket and the Single Market of 1992 bringing uniformity throughout Europe, the Brussels Parliament no doubt has other plans for Britain's airwaves - French boules, Irish hurling and Turkish sheep's bladder polo!

Black Players at any Cost

THE FACT that they will not be playing competitive football in St Pauls, Bristol for the next 15 months has not deterred Bristol City manager, Joe Jordan, from looking there for young recruits for his team.

PRIORITY AREAS

Jordan recently visited the Cabot Sports Complex in the infamous riot-prone area with the expressed intention of recruiting black youngsters to his team. He said that St Pauls was one of his priority areas.

ATTACKING

The fact they are not playing competitive football in St Pauls is because the local team has been suspended for 15 months by Gloucestershire F.A. after violently attacking a referee during a game!

McCRORY BREATHES LIFE INTO BRITISH BOXING

• Glenn McCrory: After his victory over Patrick Lumumba.

by Bob Nash

A YOUNG Geordie has just restored some badly needed pride to British boxing.

On June 3rd, 24 year old Glenn McCrory made a dream come true by winning the vacant IBF Cruiserweight title on points against the experienced Kenyan boxer Patrick Lumumba.

Weighing in on the button at 13st 8lb, McCrory was an entirely different fighter from the dejected heavyweight who had lost five out of his last six fights. From the opening round when he staggered his opponent with a powerful left hook, to the final bell of the contest, McCrory proved to be the stronger man dominating the fight and winning a unanimous points decision.

The newly crowned Champ now faces the prospect of meeting Carlos De Leon who recently defeated British boxer Sammy Reeson to win the WBC Cruiserweight title.

Asian Textile Giants Find New 'Blues' Outlet

THE NATIONAL Front believes that football clubs should be owned by their supporters, with the players for that club drawn from the town or city that the club represents.

To the National Front, the fact that an Asian Family can purchase Birmingham City Football Club is an indictment of all that is wrong with football today.

The Kumar brothers, the club's new owners come from New Delhi. They now live in this country and are importers, bringing in cheap, sweatshop produced textiles from the Far East and helping bang in the final nail in the coffin of the British textile industry.

Birmingham are not the only football club they are involved in. They also have business deals running with, Everton, Middlesbrough, Queens Park Rangers and Manchester Utd.

Locals believe that their interest in the club stems from the fact they intend to set up a Sunday Market at St. Andrews.

Football was once a sport. Now, alas it is just another balance sheet in the world of big business.

FLAG Tips!

ATHENS GATE gave The FLAG's punters some cheer last month and for July we are looking to Duckington to win the Stewards Cup at Goodwood.

Other selections are Geoff Wragg's Princess Wu in a mile and a half maiden, and Mark Usher's Mogul Prince in a six furlong 'seller'.

Developers Threaten Sport!

TWENTY ACRES of playing fields at Raynes Park in South-West London are under threat after the Department of the Environment has put pressure on a local council.

Merton Council has been instructed by the DoE to provide 5,500 extra dwellings by 2001 and the playing fields are the only open spaces in the borough available for development.

The playing fields help improve the quality of life for those in the South-West London borough and if they are sold off to developers yet another corner of London will become a concrete jungle with all the inner city problems that go with it.

It is any wonder that the prowess of Britain as a sporting nation is at an all time low when our sporting facilities are being sacrificed in the effort to house a population rapidly expanding due to immigration and an out of control ethnic birth-rate.

We Solve Wimbledon Mystery!

WORRIES ABOUT Wimbledon coverage being disrupted by the pay dispute at the BBC were misplaced as the Tennis Championship got off to an exciting start. But not that BBC viewers got to see much of that excitement!

On Tuesday 26th June with a titanic battle raging on the Centre Court between John McEnroe and Dean Cahill, BBC viewers were watching a game on Court 13. Why?

Was it because a British player was playing? - No.

Was it because one of the top seeds was playing? - No.

Was it because it was an exciting match? - No.

There was no reason whatsoever for the match in which Miss Garrison beat Miss Date 6-1 6-2 to be screened.

Apart, that is, from the fact that Miss Garrison was Black and Miss Date was Oriental, and it was probably the only time the BBC will be able to give coverage to two players representing sections of Britain's continually growing ethnic minorities playing against each other during the tournament.

Future in Doubt for Canadian Cricket

CANADA, A country trying to establish itself as a cricketing nation, has had an unfortunate setback recently.

The policy of bolstering their teams with recruits from Pakistan and India took an embarrassing turn when one Farooq Mohammed, representing Winnipeg, on disagreeing with an umpire's decision strode up the pitch and proceeded to batter the unfortunate official unconscious with his cricket bat.

The player was acquitted of attempted murder but convicted of aggravated assault and being in possession of a deadly weapon!

With the possibility now of a license being needed for a cricket bat in Canada, the future of the sport does not look promising.

Over The Line!

ON THE Line is a political/sport programme on BBC 2 on Tuesday evenings and it doesn't miss a trick in getting its 'Left-wing' message over.

The programme has covered archery and attacked the British Archery Association for allowing a postal competition against Natal Archery Club in South Africa.

Its covered sport in Ulster and the Irish Republic, complaining that Gaelic Football and Hurling are not played in the North.

And its covered Yorkshire Cricket Club and attacked that bastion of English Cricket for not allowing West Indians and Asians to play for the club.

The idea of promoting a political message by means of sport's programmes is the latest trick used by the backroom boys to help prop up Britain's disintegrating multi-racial society.

THE NATIONAL FRONT

A political party that stands up for Britain and the British people.

The National Front was formed on 7th February 1967 and since that day has campaigned continuously to defend the rights of the British people. Despite many ups and downs in its fortunes and non-stop attacks from our opponents, the National Front today still stands firm behind those beliefs, contesting, Euro-Elections, Parliamentary Elections, and Council Elections whenever it can.

DEMOCRACY & INDIVIDUAL FREEDOM

The National Front is committed to the preservation and enhancement of Parliamentary democracy. We are committed to the defence of traditional British rights of freedom of speech and opinion for our opponents as well as ourselves. The National Front would enshrine rights of free speech and free expression of opinion in a Bill of Rights.

RACE, NATIONALITY & CITIZENSHIP

The National Front believes in a positive creed of love of Nation and Race, not of negative hatred of coloured immigrants as individuals. We are committed to the ending of all non-White immigration and to the phased, humane and financially-assisted repatriation of all non-Whites resident on our national territory.

NATIONAL SOVEREIGNTY

The National Front is committed to Britain becoming a fully sovereign nation as far as possible independent externally of other nations and internally of sectional interests.

NORTHERN IRELAND

Northern Ireland is, and must always remain an integral part of the British Nation. Those people currently resident in Northern Ireland who refuse to renounce allegiance to an independent Irish state and therefore do not consider themselves British will lose their British Citizenship and, as a result, their automatic right to live on British soil, vote in British elections and enjoy British social services. This would enable all IRA activists and supporters to be removed permanently from the UK.

DEFENCE

The National Front is resolved that Britain must possess an independent nuclear deterrent, one entirely produced, maintained and controlled from within Britain. Our conventional armed forces must be expanded and modernised. All foreign bases would be removed from British soil.

OWNERSHIP OF INDUSTRY

The National Front believes in the widespread private ownership of industry commerce and agriculture. We envisage an economy comprised of small and medium-sized businesses and farms owned by individuals and partnerships; enterprises that are necessarily large which are owned and controlled by employee shareholders, and producers' co-operatives in which the profits would be distributed among the employees. Nationalised industries would exist in those areas of the economy in which the necessary monopoly position, level of fixed costs or importance to national security or the economy, made public ownership necessary or desirable.

CRIME & POLICING

We recognise that crime can only be contained by providing adequate deterrents, rather than searching for alleged 'social causes'. Therefore we would restore capital punishment for the categories of murder, treason, large-scale drug trafficking and involvement in terrorist offences.

HEALTH & WELFARE

The National Front recognises that the State has an obligation to ensure that those of its nationals who cannot be expected to support themselves should enjoy a standard of living that is adequate to cover their reasonable material and social needs. We believe that the National Health Service must be maintained at whatever level is necessary to ensure the health and well-being of the Nation.

EDUCATION

The National Front believes that there must be a national common core curriculum in primary education to ensure that the minimum standards of literacy and numeracy are achieved by all children. Secondary education must place a strong emphasis on technology and craftsmanship.

THE ENVIRONMENT

The defence of the environment is central to the National Front's programme for National and Racial survival. We seek an economy and a way of life which will respect and sustain the environment rather than disregarding and exploiting it.

If you agree with National Front thinking on these issues of the day then join our Party and take your place alongside other Britons who have joined our crusade to win back our country!
